TROOP FIRE EATERS IN PHILADELPHIA

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 24.—With drawn faces, fifteen members of Troop B of the State police, known as the Black Hussars, shortly before 1 o'clock this afternoon charged a mob of more than 5,000 citizens who were about to create a disturbance by jeering at the crew of a passing car at Germantown avenue and Alford street. The crowd, in an effort to escape the hoots of the troopers' horses, as well as blows directed at them, fled in terror, a large number of persons rushing into a nearby building, closely pursued by the police.

The crowd, enraged at what they thought was unprovoked for riding on the part of the troopers, scattered pieces of iron and brass, throwing them through a doorway at the pursuing policemen. The troopers then fired a volley of shot into the doorway, but no one was injured by the firing.

A rifleman, however, was fatally wounded on Woodland avenue, near Fifth street, when he was hit by a bullet. The bullet on his car jumped to the street and struck back the crowd firing at them.

The injured man was taken to the University Hospital suffering from a compound fracture of the right arm.

After an almost check from the police, Harry Smith, twenty years old, who is said to have confessed to the police, was taken to the University Hospital.

Money at Cambridge Institution—No Trace of Missing Bookkeeper.

Women depositors of the National Bank of Cambridge almost nudged that listed institution to-day, and some of them became hysterical when they learned that no money was available. One woman drew a check for $1,000 and confidently presented it at the cashier's window. She cried out in agony when the truth was told to her.

Another woman drew a check for $100 and went through the same exciting experience.

A man who failed to get a check called around the directors for letting "a kid get away with all the money," delivered a savage discourse at bank directors of the State in general and left in a rage with the threat that he was going to see that somebody "got what is coming to them."

Former Governor John F. Bates, the president of the bank, said at noon that it would be a long time before they could make any definite statement as to the bank's condition because things are so thoroughly mixed up.

While the official investigation is placed at $14,000, it was learned by this that the bank had lost a great deal of money. The bank had lost a great deal of money.

AYLWARD WINS IN CAMBOGE

James F. Aylward was today declared elected city solicitor of Cambridge, having defeated a decided hand of the S. Jerome Court, which sat in full bench.

The court obtained the verdict for a number of years brought by former City Solicitor Robert A. Peery, who sought to have Aylward elected on the ground that he was not elected by the Board of Aldermen in a proper manner.

The court found that Aylward's election was sustained in a majority of the Board of Aldermen.

MILLION LOST IN CAR STRIKE, PHILADELPHIA IS CALLING FOR PEACE

[illegible]

On the sixth day of the struggle, the first time the first move on the part of outsiders to bring about peace, sentiment for a peaceable solution was so strong that the grudge is beginning to be lifted of all the difficulties and terror, and methods has suffered irreparable harm.

It was declared to-day that if the present strike failed, the business community would take matters in their own hands and would force the strikers to return to work.

Other Loses Are Heavy.

The loss suffered by outside interests is put at an enormous figure. Wholesale retailers in the different lines of commodities, department stores, theatres, and many other concerns, are expected to have added to the loss. Copies of records

WATCH & WARD REPLY TO O'MEARA EXPOSES INFAMOUS CITY EVILS

Practically giving the lie to Commissioner O'Meara in his charges against the Watch and Ward Society, the New England Watch and Ward Society, after a special meeting of its officials at the Tremont Club, today gave a lengthy reply. The society ignores Commissioner O'Meara's offer to "prove" that there are not 200 disorderly houses in Boston, but not more than twenty-five.

The letter is perhaps the most important document ever issued by the Watch and Ward Society, and it puts some things squarely up to Commissioner O'Meara, whose name is the interesting part of it comes to be. The letter follows:

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:
A recent publication of the Boston Police Department, entitled "A Record of the Enforcement of the Laws Against Sexual Immorality," contains a number of obvious allusions to the New England Watch and Ward Society, although not by name.

It seems to the directors of this society that such allusions should not pass without comment. We have been especially in criticism of any department of our city government, but in this case no choice is left to us.

Replies to Serious Charge.

The most serious charge made against the agents of this society is that they are "reputed" to "take part in immoral acts" on their own premises as well as to be a charge of immorality. This is a charge which the police are reported to have made, and which, we believe, is a charge which any private citizen who is free to live his own life and who is not a public officer, should be free to make for the sake of the public.

It says of the police: "They are not the only of the police who are reported to have been seen in the act of committing an immoral act." It is not the duty of the police to enforce a conviction. It is the duty of the police to enforce a conviction. It is the duty of the police to enforce a conviction.

YOUNG WOMAN WHO SAYS MAN SHE WED HAS ANOTHER WIFE

BRIDE OF A DAY SAYS HUSBAND IS A BIGAMIST

Successfully playing the role of detective for five months to learn if her husband of twenty-four hours had another wife living, Mrs. Helen Edgerton, twenty-six, a pretty young woman, declares she has her husband today in seeing her husband, James W. Matthews, aged twenty-seven, a former laborer, charged in the Lynn Police Court with bigamy. Matthews, in his own defense, says he thought his wife was dead.

His mother-in-law, Mrs. Anna Fitzgerald Matthews, now living in Winthrop, who was formerly a Lynn clerk, to the time of her marriage to Matthews on February 24, 1909. She only lived with the Lynn man a few months when she was reported to her home.

Last September Matthews induced Helen Edgerton, twenty-six, to take his name and they were married in Boston. Matthews married Matthews and the girl, who was formerly a Lynn clerk, to the time of her marriage to Matthews on February 24, 1909. She only lived with the Lynn man a few months when she was reported to her home.

LOTTA'S $20,000 RACER IS RESCUED

The $20,000 race horse Lotta, owned by Lotta children, which has been kept in a stable at Aquantum for the last few weeks, was taken out by its trainer for exercise early today attached to a wagon. The animal became unmanageable, tipped over the side, broke loose, ran across the lot to a place known as "Aquantum Causeway," and sank to the mud up to its body. A number of athletes got to work with pitchforks and ropes and pulled the animal to safety.

Take the Post-Office Out of Politics

In attempting to charge up the deficit in his Department against the magazines the Postmaster-General has done the country a genuine, even if an unintentional, service. He has drawn attention to the necessity for a thorough reorganization of the Postal Department. He has emphasized the importance of taking the Post-Office out of politics for all time.

The Fifty-ninth Congress authorized an investigation of postal affairs, and a joint commission, headed by Senator Penrose and Representative Overstreet, made a thorough investigation of the whole subject. As a result, the Overstreet bill, which contains many excellent recommendations, was presented. It is not from guesswork that we have concluded that the Department is in need of radical reorganization, but from the official reports of this Joint Congressional Postal Commission and of the disinterested accountants hired by it to investigate the business methods of the Department. We quote from these reports, remembering that the findings and criticisms are not ours, but those of a Congressional Commission and its authorized agents. First read these recommendations from the preliminary report of the Joint Postal Commission, in this week's number of

THE SATURDAY EVENING POST

Then read these extracts from the report of the public accountants employed by the Joint Commission:

"The service has grown from small beginnings over a long period of years, hampered by restrictive laws which may have been necessary in the past and may even now be considered necessary to some extent for a government department, but which would render it practically impossible for any private business to survive."

"The general absence of any efficient methods of accounting has been brought to light by the inquiry carried out by the Joint Commission on second-class mail matter. This report was referred to Congress on January 28, 1909, and our investigation has confirmed the impression gathered from the study of it, that the whole of these methods are crude in the extreme and such as no private business concern or corporation could follow without the certainty of loss, if not of financial disaster."

There are half-a-dozen more of these extracts on the Editorial page of this week's issue of THE SATURDAY EVENING POST.

In the Joint Postal Commission's report of 1907 we find:

"As an indication of the views at present entertained it is proper to say that the commission is profoundly impressed with the wisdom of the accountant's report in recommending the following:

"That the actual direction of the business of the Post-Office Department and postal service be committed to an officer with necessary assistants to be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, for long terms, so as to insure the continuity of efficient service, and that the Postmaster-General, as a member of the Cabinet, be chargeable only with general supervisory control and the determination of questions of policy."

We ask Congress to give us a Director of Posts—as recommended by the Joint Congressional Committee of 1907, an officer who shall be non-political, and whose term of service shall not be subject to political changes, and who shall conduct the workings of the Post-Office Department with the efficiency, economy, and businesslike methods which distinguish high-class American business enterprise.
